

SUMMER PIANO WORKSHOP

WHO: Group of 4 to 6 intermediate to advanced piano students

WHAT: A one week seminar in which students will receive 55 minute class periods over 5 days for 2 weeks. Students will study basic theory, music notation, and terminology, as well as develop new practice habits and skills, learn to harmonize, transpose, and sight-read. Pianists will also get the chance to play solo works and collaboratively, and engage in group discussions. Most importantly, Ms. Lantos aims to make this a fun and positive experience that you can take with you throughout your life as a musician!

WHEN: June 18-22, 10:30AM-12:30PM, July 16-20, 1-3PM

WHERE: The bART Center for Music

Tatyana Lantos, Piano

BIO: A native of Odessa, Ukraine, Tatyana Lantos has dedicated her life to educating talented performing musicians. Ms. Lantos graduated from the Odessa State Music Conservatory with a Masters Degree in Piano Performance and Pedagogy. A well-established instructor at the Barthelmes Conservatory, Ms. Lantos has been teaching piano lessons and group classes at The bART Center for Music since September 2005. She is a piano professor at Tulsa Community College since 2000.

Ms. Lantos attempts to create an ideal learning atmosphere at the bART for each of her students. Her holistic teaching approach includes developing and instructing a challenging custom curriculum and repertoires for each of her students to prepare them for demanding jury recitals, exams, and open concerts required for advancement, while simultaneously supporting them with much needed patience, encouragement, and love. Ms. Lantos makes every effort to provide each student with the educational, professional, social, and emotional foundation necessary to embark on successful careers and productive lives as artists.
